

Miss E. R. Morey.
A.A.N.S.

I embarked on the 7th November, 1917, on the "Nestor". This was a troopship bringing over 1800 troops and six sisters.

There was very little sickness on board. We reached Suez about the 19th December, and entrained for Cairo.

We were billeted at the 14th A.G.H., Abbassia, for about 10 days, when we were sent on to England. After fourteen days furlough, I was detailed for duty at No. 3 A.A.H., Dartford, and am still there.

We were extremely busy at Dartford, during the influenza epidemic, when we lost a lot of patients, but since then, the work has been very slack, owing to most of the patients just waiting for transport to Australia.

We are working under very good conditions, being a large well equipped hutted Hospital, and we are very comfortably billeted, each having a separate cubicle.

The patients are very well provided for in the way of amusements, theatre parties, river trips, concerts, and Uchre tournaments.
