Miss M. Stokes.

A.A.N.S.

I embarked on the 9th June, 1917, on the "Mooltan" with 300 other sisters bound for Salonica.

We dis-embarked at Suez, and entrained for Alexandria, and after about five days, embarked again for Salonica, reaching there about the end of June.

I was then detailed for duty at the 60th General Hospital, Hortiach, about 17 kilos. out of the town. At first the conditions were not very good, but they improved rapidly. They were practically all malaria patients there. Some of the cases were very severe, but the work gradually lessened.

I was only here for about a month, when I was transferred to the 52nd General Hospital, which was a hutted Hospital, and the conditions were much better. This was also a malaria Hospital.

I was here for about a month, when I was transferred to the 50th General. Here the work varied, sometimes being heavy, and sometimes being very light.

Our hours of duty varied with the work. In the wet weather, the mud was very bad. I found the R.A.M.C. personnel very easy to work with.

I stayed here for about eighteen months, when I embarked for England, and after furlough, was sent to No. 3 A.A.H., Dartford, where I am now awaiting transport to Australia.
