Played with Adelaide University

Cricket Club: 1908/09-1910/11 (A Grade)

Intervarsity Cricket (1910)

Student: Medicine (1908-1912)

Background

Coinciding with the Centenary of Anzacs our incentive behind the series of biographical publications is the Adelaide University Football and Cricket Club's desire to honour our players who served in the Great War (1914 - 1918). These brave men put on hold their academic, professional and sporting careers for King and Country in the name of peace and freedom. The AUFC/AUCC WW1 Memorial Committee is endeavouring to identify every one of our players who served and prepare life stories on all. This is to ensure their sacrifices and further contributions to society will be recognised by future generations.

On Anzac Day 2015, the Centenary of the Gallipoli landing, a memorial plaque was unveiled on the Adelaide University Oval Pavilion and this was followed by the erection of a picket fence between the pavilion and the scoreboard with each picket bearing a plaque with the name of an AUFC/AUCC player who served.

The following documentation relates to the life of Francis Ernest Osborne. It is compilation of information and photographs collected from a variety of historical sources.

Biography

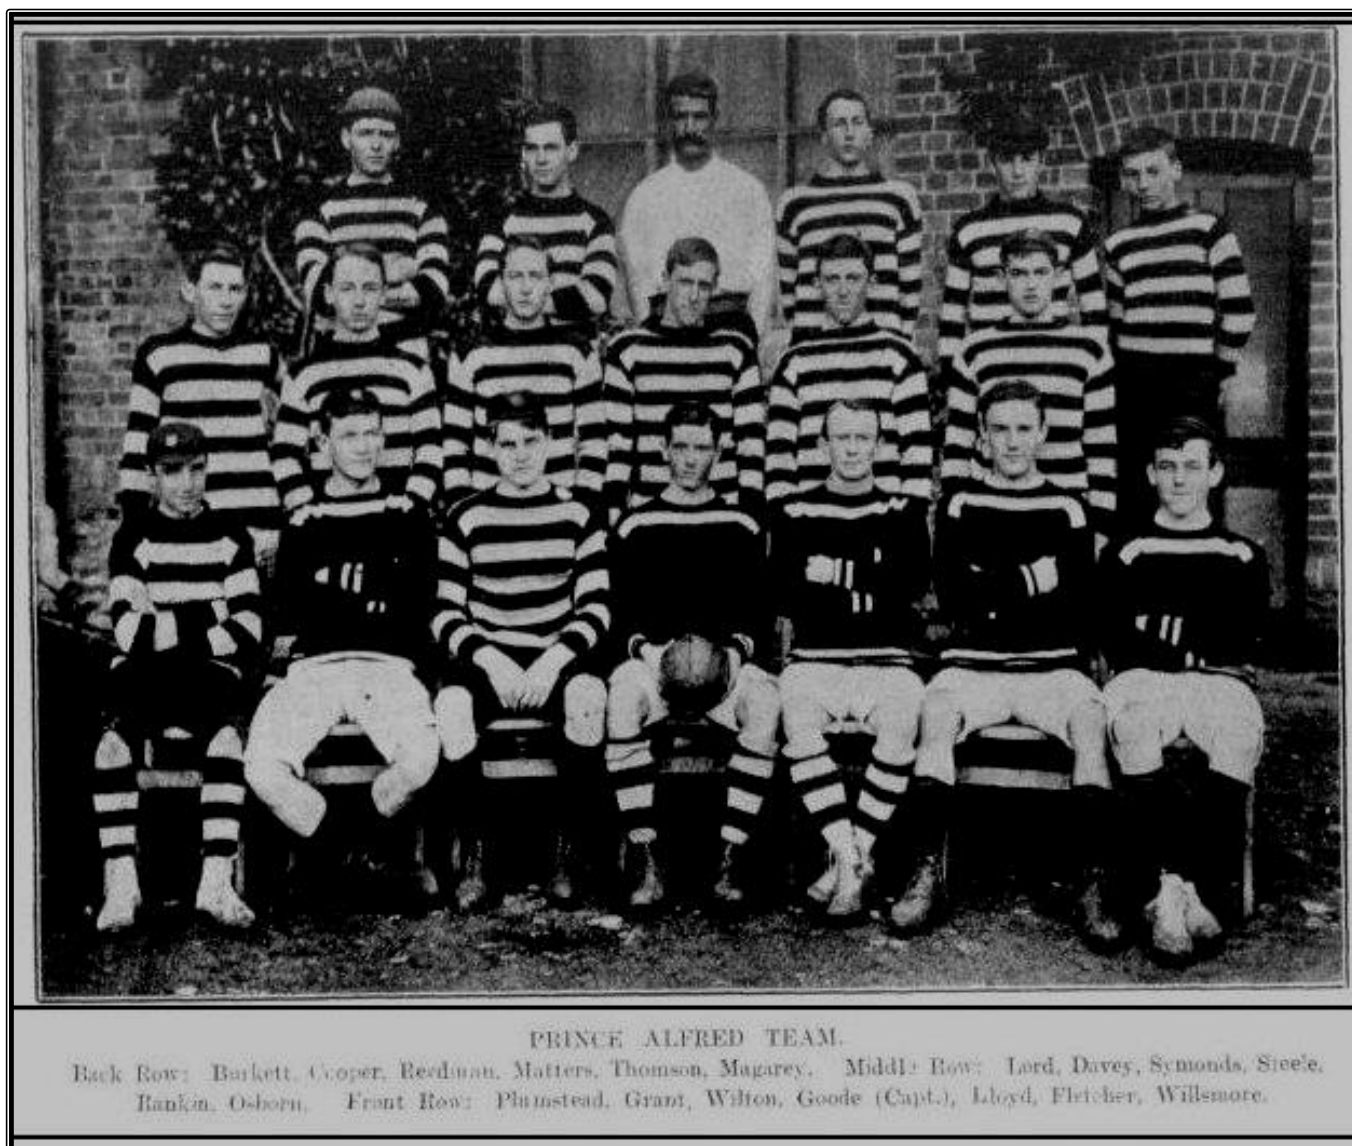

Early Life

Francis Ernest (Frank) Osborn was born on the 15th of April 1888 to Joseph Rowe Osborn and Mary Jane Turnbull Stewart, (SA Birth Registration 416/83). Joseph (Joe) was instrumental in the creation of the SAFA (South Australian Football Association) which became the SANFL and was a co-founder of the Norwood Football Club. He was the Club's first Captain and captained Norwood to three consecutive premierships (1878-80). Joe was a teetotaler and director of Thomas Hardy and owned a stable of prize-winning horses. In 1912, Joe sold his stable of horses and purchased the property at McLaren Vale now the home of the d'Arenberg Winery.

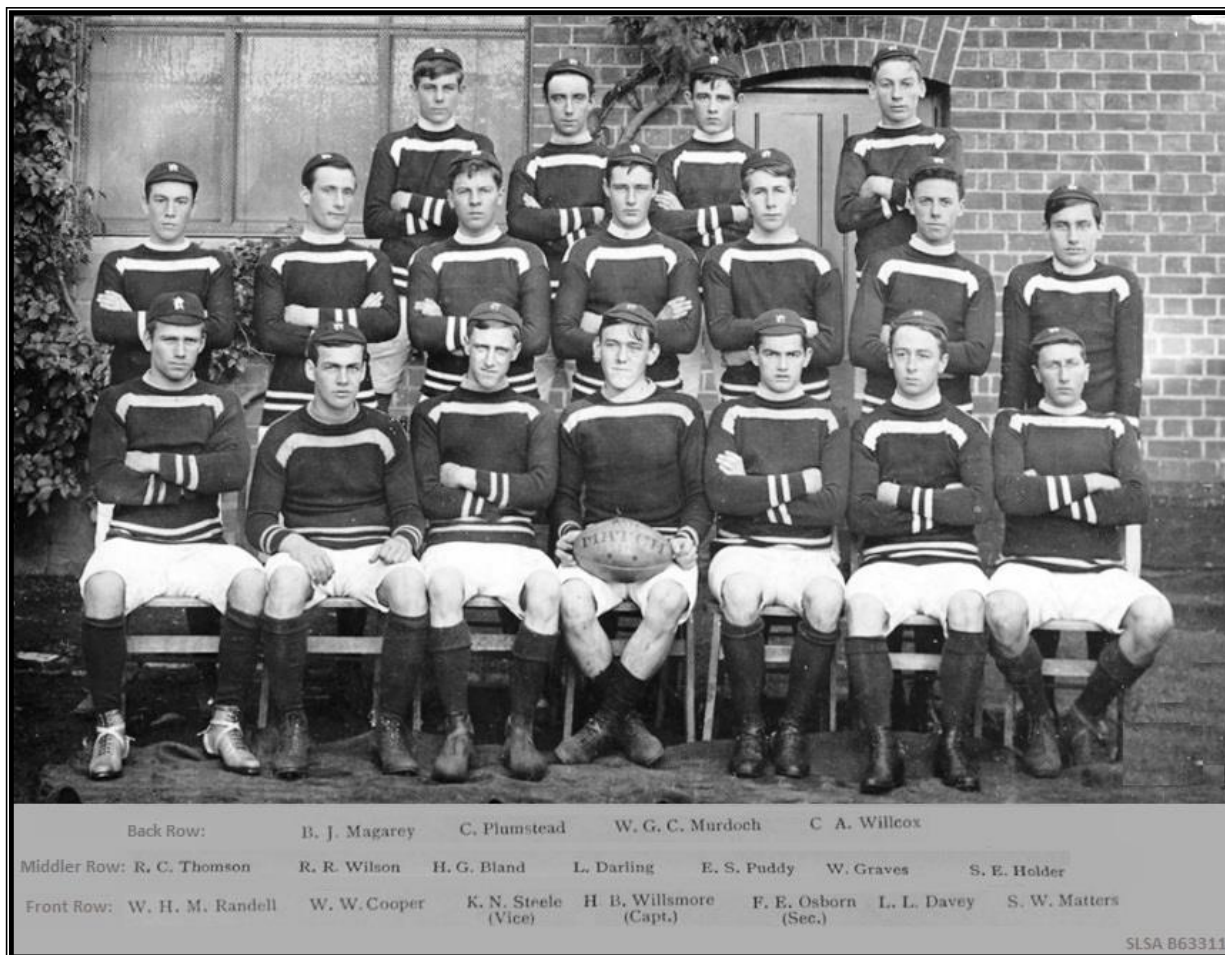

Schooling

From 1904, Frank attended Prince Alfred College, Adelaide where he passed his Junior Examinations in 1905 and Senior Examinations in 1906 and 1907.

Post-University

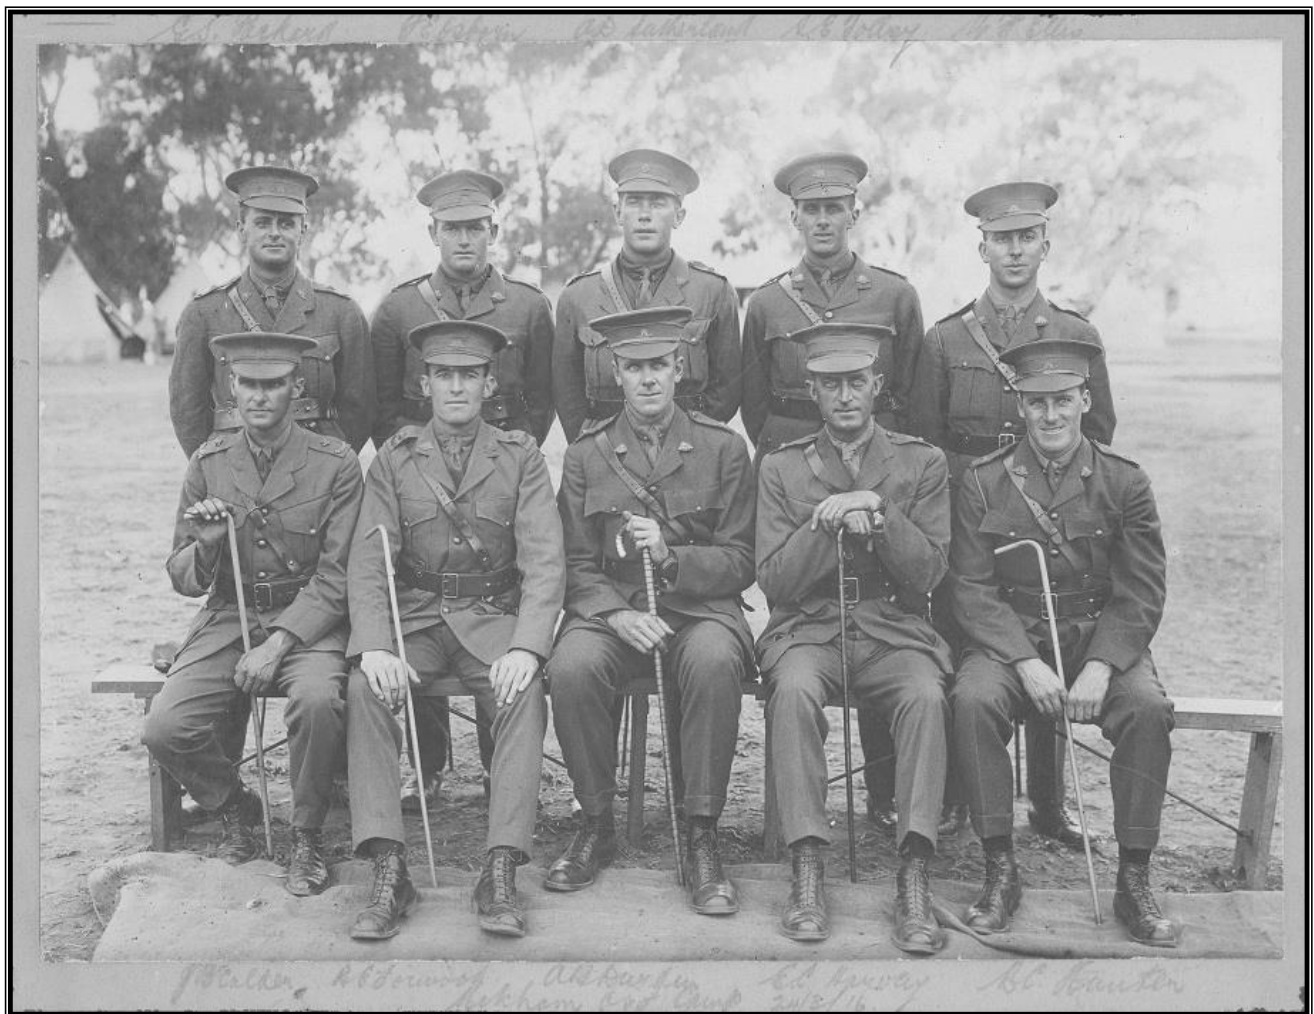

From 1913, Frank was on the land at McLaren Vale, SA and in May 1913, Frank purchased a 12 h.p. De Dion car. Frank exhibited birds in the McLaren Vale Poultry Show in July 1913 and 1914.

World War I

On the 2nd of August 1915, Frank enlisted as a Private, he was 27 years and four months old, 5'7½", and weighed 178 lbs. From the 1st of September 1915 to the 15th of October 1915 Frank was at N.C.O. School and from the 16th to the 31st of October, he attended Officers School. Frank was with the 2/32nd Battalion in November 1915 and the 9/27th Battalion from the 1st of December 1915 to mid-January 1916. On the 20th of January 1916, Frank received his Commission as a 2nd Lieutenant in the 43rd Battalion AIF. Frank embarked onboard the HMAT A19 Afric on the 9th of June 1916. Frank served in France and was promoted to Lieutenant.

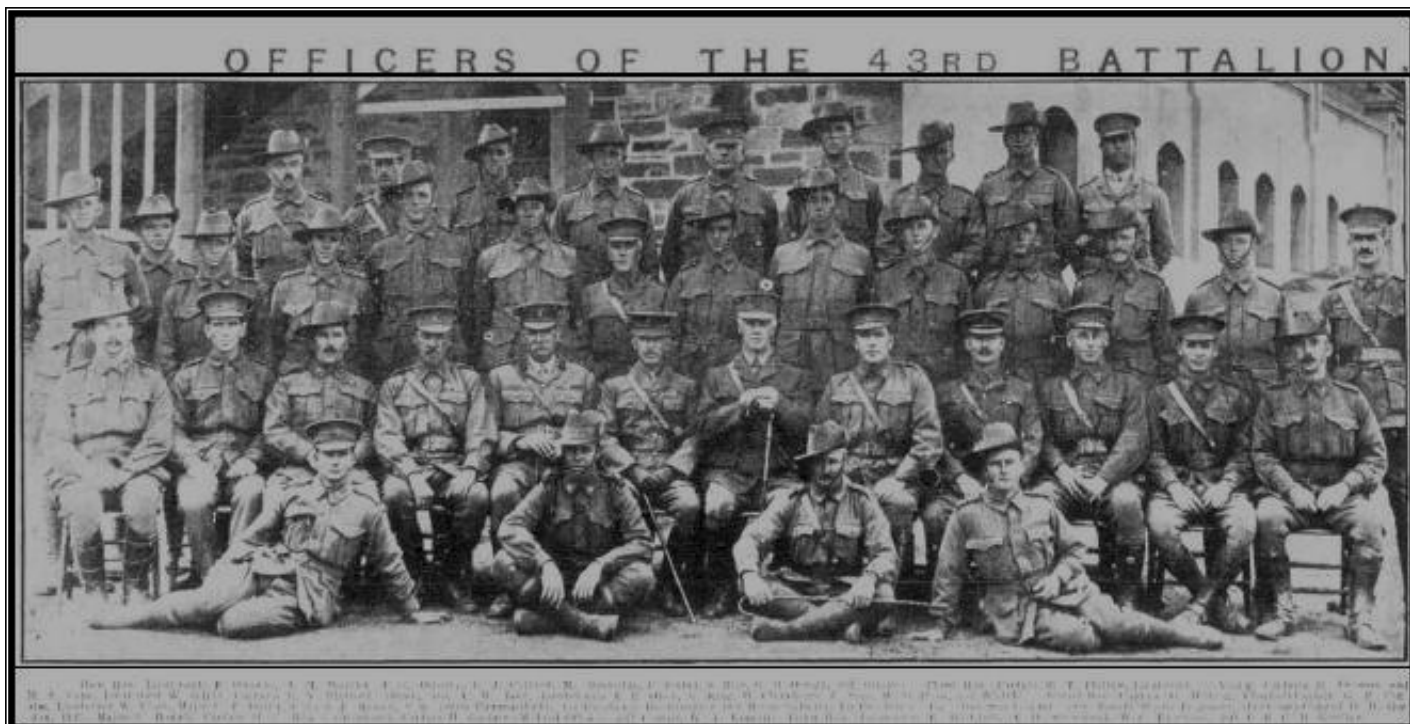

Unfortunately, the rigors of war adversely impacted on Frank's health, exacerbating the rheumatism he had suffered from since childhood. After many periods of illness Frank returned to Australia on board HMAT A71 Nestor, disembarking at Adelaide on the 21st of September 1917. He was discharged from the AIF on the 9th of November 1917.

Post-War Life

On the 24th of June 1920, Francis Ernest Osborn married Frances Helena d'Arenberg (born 26 Sep 1895) at St Peter's College Chapel, Hackney. Known as Helena, she was the only daughter of F.A. d'Arenberg Esq., M.A., and Mrs. d'Arenberg, of North Unley, and granddaughter of the late Rev. Francis Williams, M.A., one-time head master of St Peter's College.

Frank, Helena and Joseph Osborn (c1920)

Frank and Helena's first child, a daughter, Jane Antoinette (known as Antoinette) was born in 1921.

Frances Helena Osborn (nee d'Árenberg)

In May 1921, Frank's father Joseph Rowe Osborn passed away, aged 69, leaving Frank in full control of the family business.

Mr. Joseph Rowe Osborn, a well-known Adelaide racehorse owner, died early on Wednesday morning, after a brief illness, at the age of 69 years. He was born at Truro, Cornwall, England, and when quite young his parents emigrated to Victoria. He was educated at Richmond, and subsequently entered upon mercantile pursuits. In 1873 he came to South Australia, and soon afterwards entered the service of Messrs. Thomas Hardy & Sons, wine merchants. Three years later he became a partner in the firm. In 1888 he was elected as a member of the Burnside District Council. Latterly he was the council's delegate on the East Torrens County Board of Health. He was also a member of the Masonic lodge. Mr. Osborn was keenly interested in all outdoor sports, and was prominently associated with the turf. He married in 1884 a daughter of Mr. Thomas A. Stewart, of Glasgow. He leaves one son and two daughters—Mrs. J. C. Marshall, of Adelaide, Mrs. Tolley, of Nuriootpa; and Mr. Frank Osborn, of McLaren Vale.

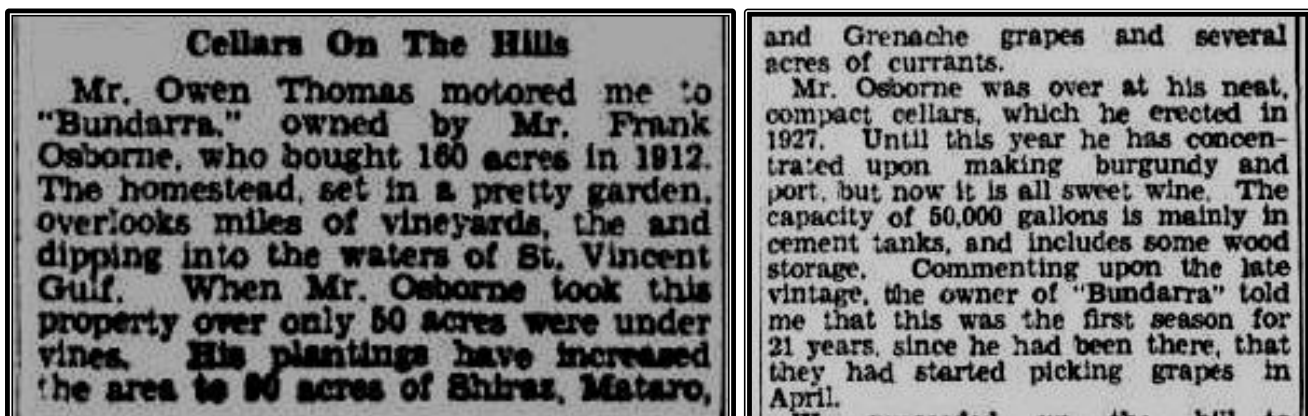

Sadly, in October 1923, Helena's father (F.A. d'Árenberg Esq., M.A., a former Adelaide University lecturer, well known tutor and lawyer) died.

In 1924, Frank and Helena's first son, Rowen Frederick, was born and in November 1924, the family holidayed at Henley Beach.

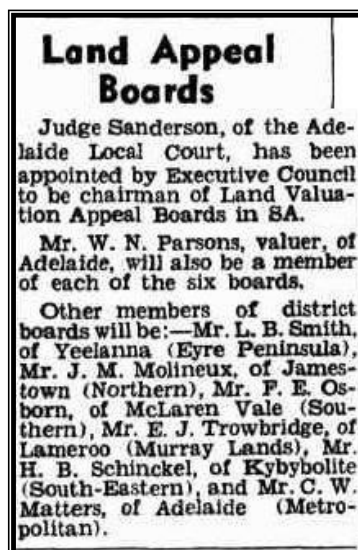

In December 1924, Frank and Helena's second son, Francis d'Arenberg (d'Arry) was born, but tragically on the 27th of December 1924, a few days after d'Arry's birth, Helena passed away, aged only 29. She was buried at Nailsworth (North Road) Cemetery, Adelaide.

Frank was elected to the South Ward of the Noarlunga Council and served in that role for many years. In 1927, the winery was built at 'Bundarra'. Frank was an active member of the R.S.S.I.L.A (later RSA and RSL) and he was a member of State Board of R.S.L. (Vice-President) 1934-37 and a long-time member of Legacy. He was President of the McLaren Vale RSA for many years and in August 1928, he was thanked for his hospitality and interest in RSA affairs and was presented with a gold cigarette case, suitably inscribed. He also attended 43rd Battalion reunions. For sport, Frank played golf at McLaren Vale.

In 1933, 'Yeoman' wrote an article entitled 'McLaren Vale – Land of vineyards and orchards' for the Chronicle which included the following excerpt on Frank.

In December 1949, Frank was appointed to the Land Appeal Board (Southern).

Both Rowen and d'Arry followed their father to Prince Alfred College. In 1943, due to a decline in Frank's health, d'Arry (aged 16) left school and joined the family business. After WWII, Frank often appeared in the paper hosting parties for his three children.

Antoinette left in January 1948 to spend 10 months in London, staying with her cousin, Mrs. E.F. Kelly. She later lived in Rangoon, Bangkok.

Rowen became a member of the Australian Diplomatic Corp and was posted to Karachi from the early 1950's. In December 1952, he returned to Australia, visiting his sister in Rangoon on the journey home. He was then posted to Canberra. Antoinette holidayed in Australia in 1954 before returning to Rangoon in late July. She later married Pat Bourne and lived in England.

Death

Frank passed away on the 3rd of August 1957, aged 69 and is buried with Helena at Nailsworth (North Road) Cemetery, Adelaide. After Frank's death, d'Arry took full control of the business and in 1959 he launched the d'Arenberg brand, named in his mother memory. d'Arry was later joined by his son Chester who became Chief Winemaker in 1984.

Further Family Details

Family History

One of the most significant wineries in McLaren Vale, d'Arenberg was established in 1912 when Joseph Osborn, a teetotaler and director of Thomas Hardy and Sons, sold his stable of prize winning horses to purchase the property that now houses the winery, cellar door and d'Arry's Verandah Restaurant.

Joseph's son Frank joined him on the land and they set about acquiring some more vineyards. Joseph Osborn died in 1921 leaving full control of the business to Frank.

In the early years grapes were sold to other wineries before the winery was built in 1927 shortly after Francis (universally known as d'Arry) Osborn was born.

Initially making fortified wines to export to England, the business prospered until World War II stifled demand. This coincided with Frank's ill health which forced d'Arry to leave school in 1943 at age 16 to help his father run the business and work the land.

d'Arry took full control of the business in 1957 upon Frank's death and in 1959 he launched his own wine label named in honour of his mother, Helena d'Arenberg, who died shortly after giving birth to him. d'Arry decided to put a red stripe on the label, inspired by happy memories of his school days at Prince Alfred College, where he wore the crimson-and-white striped school tie.

d'Arry's son Chester joined the business in 1984 as Chief Winemaker and makes distinctive wines using traditional methods both in the vineyard and the winery.

Rowen Frederick Osborn (1924 – February 2012) was an Australian public servant and diplomat. Osborn was born in 1924 and was educated at Prince Alfred College in Adelaide.

In 1948, Osborn joined the Department of External Affairs as a cadet. He graduated from his cadetship alongside Neil Currie, and Barrie Dexter. He served in Karachi, The Hague, Tokyo and London between 1948 and 1970. He was Australian High Commissioner to Fiji and Tonga from 1970 to 1973, and to Samoa from 1972. In 1983 Osborn was appointed High Commissioner to Canada. He returned to Canberra from the posting in 1985.

Osborn died in February 2012, having been missing for several days.

Francis d'Arenberg Osborn

D'Arry's recollections of his family history and the history of the winery were recorded as part of the South Australia's City of Onkaparinga Oral History Project.

'The History of d'Arenberg winery. Celebrating 100 years in 2012' (available on YouTube) gives d'Arry and Chester's history in their own words (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=a_nIN8cgf9w).
